What is “Italian Studies?” What are the objects of study, forms of knowledge and types of skills that a student majoring or minoring in Italian can expect to acquire? This course aims both to provide answers to those questions and give students an opportunity to acquire some of that knowledge and apply the skills in question. Students will be introduced to the major fields of inquiry in Italian Studies. We will learn to conduct research in Italian Studies using both library and special collection resources as well as digital search engines and archives. Students will have the opportunity to construct, research, annotate, write and peer review a research paper and bibliography in Italian Studies.

Spring 2018 - MWF 3:30-5:20pm in DEN 113

Questions? email barduini@uw.edu