French & Italian Studies
University of Washington

Paris 2018

July 29th–August 31th

Again this year, the Department of French and Italian Studies, will organize a month-long program in Paris, France. This program will offer students the opportunity to earn 15 UW resident credits while living and studying in Paris for four weeks. This year courses will be taught by Hedwige Meyer, Principal Lecturer, and H el ene Vilavella-Collins, Senior Lecturer, both from the Department of French and Italian Studies.

ELIGIBILITY

Students must have completed French 103 or its equivalent by the end of A term Summer quarter 2018.

Admission will be granted on a first-come, first-served basis, with final acceptance determined by the Department of French and Italian Studies.

Enrollment will be limited to 25 students.

COURSES

French 210 (VLPA, I&S) (5 credits)

French 327 (2 credits):

Class taught by H el ene Vilavella-Collins
Lectures in English
Site visits and on-site presentations in French.

From the Parisi to contemporary Paris: this class will trace the cultural history of the development of the French capital from its settlement to our century. Attention will be paid to the various phases of the Parisian urban development (King Philippe Auguste, Henri IV, Louis XV, Napol eon, Haussmann). Course work will involve numerous visits to Parisian sites.

May be taken as French 499 by French majors who have completed French 302.

French 390 (5 credits):

Class taught by Hedwige Meyer

This class will function as a complement to the History of Paris class. It will focus entirely on the development of oral production skills and comprehension. We will explore various audio-visual documents, as well as texts, all related to Parisian culture and history, which will enable us to learn new vocabulary and structures. We will also focus on phonetics and pronunciation. Through the use of tasks, we will achieve a high level of interaction among students while working on group projects and presentations.

Attention French majors and minors: 10 credits applicable toward French major or minor.

PROGRAM COST

The departmental program fee will be approximately $4,150. In addition to the departmental program fee, students will pay the UW Study Abroad fee of $450.

Upon acceptance to the program, students will be required to sign and submit a payment contract. Payments will then be charged to participants' UW student accounts and will be payable to UW Student Fiscal Services in 129 Schmitz Hall or via MyUW according to the following payment schedule:

This departmental program fee includes dorm-style housing for one month at the Maison des  tudiants Canadiens (July 29-August 31); one-month public transportation pass for Paris intra-muros; two field-trips or more; all museums and monuments group entrance fees; two group meals a week; and pre-program orientation meetings on UW campus.

The departmental program fee does not include airfare to Paris, personal expenses or the $450 UW Study Abroad fee (as noted above).

Program fees are paid in dollars; most program expenses are paid in euros. The French & Italian Studies Program in Paris reserves the right to modify the program fee based upon dollar devaluation or severe inflation. If such a change occurs, students will be notified of the increase and an adjustment will be made to the final program payment.
